On June 6, 1915 Mr. Horn and the former Christine Breitbarth were married in the church. They lived in Chicago and Forest Park, returning to Orland Park in 1937. For the past 12 years he was employed at the Great Lakes Carbon corporation in South Chicago.

Mr. Sinclair was born Dec. 3, 1869 in Glasgow, Scotland and after coming to Canada and then to this country, he settled in what was a new promising land development named Alpine, near Orland Park. He then was a traveling blacksmith and when he decided to settle down, he established his shop in New Lenox.

Frankfort Voters to Ballot Saturday on G. O. Bond Issue

Frankfort village voters will go to the polls Saturday to ballot on sewer bonds. The village hall will serve as the polling place and will be open for voting from 6 am. to 6 pm.

The village board proposes to issue $140,000 in general obligation bonds as part payment for a sanitary sewer system which includes a sewage treatment plant. The remainder of the cost would be met thru revenue bonds.

The entire cost of the program is estimated at about $445,000. The engineer, Robert Hamilton, says the combined water and sewer service will cost the average user around $7.50 a month. Such money will be used in retiring the revenue bonds. The general obligation bonds are retired thru taxes. It was estimated by competent authorities that the retirement of these bonds will cost a taxpayer approximately 38 cents per $100 of assessed valuation.

A mass meeting was scheduled for last night at the village hall at which persons were invited to ask questions and seek information concerning the project. A citizens committee, made up of representatives from all the organizations in the village, has been making a canvass of the community to discuss and explain the program.

At the meeting last night Mr. Hamilton was on hand to answer questions, as were members of the village board and a representative of the bond house group that will take the bonds, if they are approved.

A letter from C. W. Klassen, secretary of the state water board which, under the Illinois department of health, has authority to enforce compliance with sanitary codes involving water and sewer systems.

Sewer and water plans for a community must be approved by the state sanitary water board and when people ask that a sewer or water main be extended they must get approval from this board before the work can be done.

Mr. Klassen said that the preliminary plans prepared by Mr. Hamilton had been approved. The final plans will not be drafted until after the election Saturday. If the bonds are approved the village can

Orland Park Firemen to Launch Building Fund Campaign Tonight

A community meeting is scheduled for 8 o'clock tonight in the Orland Park grade school to signal the beginning of a campaign to raise funds for a new fire engine house.

The campaign is headed by the Orland Park Volunteer Fire department, and has the endorsement of the village board and the Chamber of Commerce.

The proposed new quarters will be erected on the village property on Beacon street, just south of the present outgrown, antique building that houses part of the department's equipment.

The new quarters will be of colonial design and constructed of pink brick.

The estimated cost, with department members doing a large part of the work themselves, is $18,000. There are 500 families in the area served by the department, so it is figured that an average donation of $20 will finance the project. The donations may be paid over a period of two years if the donor wishes, a department spokesman said.

Mokena Firemen to Hold Annual Dance Saturday

The Mokena Community Fire department will hold its annual dance Saturday night in the VFW hall on Wolf road. The affair will begin at 9 o'clock.

The pinocle tournament held last Saturday was well attended. Tickets for the dance were good for both affairs.

Persons who have not already obtained tickets may get them at the door. The public is invited and the firemen hope for a big crowd. The proceeds from the dance form the major portion of the department's revenue.

A volunteer outfit, the Mokena fire department depends solely upon its own efforts and the public's generosity in the purchase and maintenance of equipment and supplies.

Speed Limit on West Ave. Irks Orland Council

Assignment of a 40 mile an hour speed limit on West avenue between 143rd and 151st streets roused the ire of the Orland Park village board when it learned of the state's action.

Village Attorney Raymond P. Eper informed the board at its meeting Monday night that he had received a notice from the state highway department relative to speeds on West ave. The speed limit of 40 miles an hour on this thoroughfare is allegedly based on a survey made by engineers.

"I would say that the man who recommended a 40 mile speed limit on West avenue was never on West avenue," said Mayor W. R. Schussler, Jr., and the other council members agreed.

Police Chief Eugene Yunker told the board that he has patrolled West avenue regularly for the past four years and never saw anyone taking a traffic survey there at any time.

"I made a check myself there one day last week between 4 and 5 o'clock," Yunker said, and at 145th and West I counted 250 cars traveling on West avenue and 76 children walking or riding bicycles along that street. Forty miles an hour is too fast."

Trustee Melvin Doogan also pointed out there is a ball diamond that is reached by traveling West avenue and the street is frequently crowded.

"A 20 to 25 mile an hour limit would be more in keeping with conditions," Doogan said.

The board is asking for another survey or whatever it takes to get another speed limit fixed for West avenue. The state has not yet erected the new signs.

West avenue is a residential street that is heavily traveled, it was pointed out.

The council canvassed the vote cast in the village election April 21, and declared Doogan, Lloyd Cowan and George (Bud) Granat elected to the village board and Anne P. Durst and Helen M. Morgenthaler elected as library directors.

The returns in the official canvass were the same as the unofficial returns: Doogan, 303; Granat, 225; Cowan, 213; Robert A. Bibeau, 176; Paul E. Voss (incumbent) 174; W. L. McAleer Jr., 138; Durst, 338 and Morgenthaler, 340.

Form Park District?

Mokena Residents Plan Election

Petitions asking for a referendum on a proposal to establish a park district embracing Mokena are now in circulation in the area.

Charles Swanberg, head of the Mokena Civic Association, which is one of the groups active in promoting the idea, said the petitions would be filed with the county clerk in the next few days.

The petitions are then referred to the county court and if found sufficient Judge John Cowing will set a date for the election.

The proposed park district would cover a radius of approximately two miles around Mokena. The distance would be shorter to the south and southeast so as not to infringe on any Frankfort territory should that community decide to organize a park district. The entire area proposed for the district covers about 18 square miles.

If a park district should be created at Mokena it would start out with the Community park, a 26 acre property on the south edge of the village. This property which is valued at approximately $30,000, would be a gift to the district.

A park district not only can acquire and maintain parks but also set up recreational programs. It will also assure continued improvement and maintenance of the Mokena Community park.

As of now the park must depend upon donations from various community organizations. A park district would be supported thru taxes. The tax rate it was pointed out, is low, the maximum being eight cents per $100 of assessed valuation. Swanberg said that in Mokena's case a levy of about two cents per $100 valuation would be sufficient.

As the community grows, it was pointed out there will be more need for recreational facilities and unless there is a park district there would be no way to acquire and operate them.

It was also stated that by establishing a park district the cost of maintaining the present park would be shared by all and without burden on anyone.

If a park district is formed it would be administered by five commissioners who serve without pay. The commissioners are elected and when a referendum is held on the question of establishing a district, the voters also will ballot on candidates for commissioner.

Take Office

Swear in Council at Frankfort

The three men elected to the Frankfort village board on April 21, were sworn in and took their seats last Monday night. Two of them, John Topp and Clyde Reils, were re-elected. The newcomer is Amos D. (Ted) Massey. The losing incumbent was Wayne DePorto.

Mayor George Sangmeister named the standing committees that will serve for the next two years. And that was the principal business conducted.

As a matter of fact since it was a special meeting there was little the board could do. The members did, however, agree that the present zoning code must be amended relative to the regulations governing parking and the delivery and pick up of merchandise in the business area.

At the next regular meeting it is expected that the machinery will be put in motion to bring about this change. The situation came to light at the last regular meeting when the board approved the action of the village zoning board of appeals in changing the classification of the S. & S. Sink Top firm from business to light industry.

Trustee Lynn Kohlhaugen pointed out then that the zoning code called for establishment of parking places for employees and space for loading and unloading trucks that would take 20% of the property.

Unless this is changed the merchants between Hickory and Ash and Kansas and Nebraska streets, will find themselves in difficulties should they ever expand.

The lots in this area are narrow, it was pointed out, and if 20% of a tract must be converted into parking and dock space the store owner would be placed under a severe handicap.

This provision in the code applies to all business property as well as industrial. The feeling is that while dock and parking space are necessary they should not be required to take up as much area as now required.

The committees announced by the mayor are made up as follows:

Auditors: Milton Subbert, Reils and Massey; finance, Massey, Topp and Glenn Warning; printing, Warning, Reils and Kohlhaugen; ordinances, Massey, Kohlhaugen and Reils; police, Topp, Subbert, Warning; streets and alleys, Subbert, Kohlhaugen, Reils; fire and water, Topp, Warning, Subbert; public grounds and buildings: Reils, Massey, Warning; licenses, Warning, Topp Massey.

Claims: Reils, Subbert, Kohlhaugen; drainage, Kohlhaugen, Topp and Subbert.

The entire board will serve the village as the board of improvements should such a body be needed.

Albert H. Krusemark was reappointed village attorney and Beulah Kohlhaugen was reappointed village treasurer.

OCCUPANTS ESCAPE SERIOUS INJURY, a fact that is newsworthy when one looks at the wreck of this car. The driver, Silas Baers, 25, of 1224 Brown ave., Joliet, and Larry C. Kramer, 26 326 S. Cedar rd., New Lenox, were taken to Silver Cross hospital Saturday night after their car failed to negotiate a curve on Elsner road, a mile west of Frankfort. They were held for observation but have since been released.

Kramer had cuts, and injuries to ribs and arm, plus the loss of several teeth. Baers was cut about the head and his left ankle was injured. State Trooper Thomas Fedash gave Baers a ticket for driving too fast for conditions. The car was heading west when it left the road. The two trees in the foreground halted its progress.

Attends Republican Conference

Mrs. Mabel Ekberg of Orland Park attended the seventh annual Republican Woman's Conference at the Statler Hilton hotel, Washington, D. C. as a representative of the Township and Country Towns Republican Woman's organization. The trip was made by plane.

In her report to the board of the organization, Mrs. Ekberg related the following experiences:

Sightseeing was highlighted by attending the Blossom Festival parade and the crowning of a queen. With 14 women she attended church services at the Presbyterian church, which President Eisenhower attended while in Washington.

The delegates also attended a reception in the Presidential room of the White House, where they were greeted by vice president Nixon and Mrs. Nixon.

At the session, Mrs. Clare B. Williams, assistant chairman Republican National committee presided, where techniques for victory panels were held and a keynote address. Henry Cabot Lodge personally greeted the assembly. President Eisenhower dined with the party's top feminine leaders at the banquet, climaxing the first day of the conference, which was attended by 1700 women delegates from 48 states.

Dedication of Taft Memorial on the capitol grounds was held following a state breakfast. Former President Herbert Hoover and President Eisenhower dedicated the white marble monument. A tour of the White House was also on the itinerary.

Delegates from Illinois were entertained by Senator Dirksen and Mrs. Dirksen. Representative Marguerite Stitt Church gave each delegate a letter of welcome to Washington with a card of admission to the House of Representatives. A tour of the new Senate building was made where delegates met various senators. Mrs. Ekberg also met Congressman Edward J. Derwinski.

Besides attending sessions and meeting many other Washington notables, the group also saw Premier Fidel Castro arrive with his 30 men to begin his 10 day speaking tour.

Five year old Mikie Watkins, Joliet, great grandson of the honored guest, sang one verse of the national anthem. Mrs. Semmler gave a sketch tracing the genealogy from the Moyer family tree, of each cousin present.

Birthday cake and coffee were served before all left for their homes. It was unanimously agreed that a reunion should be held annually.

The state water board has approved extension of water and sewer mains in Unit 3.

A report was received from a firm that manufactures pumps and equipment for municipal wells that the well on the Orland Hills site that was there when the development began and which was given to the village, is worthless.

Whether to have the black-top surface course on Orland Park Hills streets laid in two layers or one was discussed at length and technically by Trustees Doogan, Cowan and the village engineer, Mark Lovejoy. Lovejoy recommended two layers but no action was taken so the one layer procedure will be followed.

Orland Park's share of the motor fuel tax collected by the state in April was $497.05. Fines collected by Police Magistrate Albert Wheeler for that month totaled $156.

Orland PTA To Conduct School Census

The Orland Park Parent Teacher association will conduct a school census May 9 thru May 16, 1959. Volunteers are needed. If you can help, please contact the school. Each volunteer will be assigned a district in his or her neighborhood. Calls may be made by telephone or door to door. The census is not for tax purposes.

The grade school needs to determine the number of students that will be attending in the Fall so that plans can be made for rooms and teachers. Parents expecting to enroll their children in a private or parochial school should know definitely by this coming week.

When the census taker calls your cooperation in answering her questions will be appreciated.

then proceed with the task.

"We are pleased to learn that the village has recognized the pollution problem in that area," Klassen wrote the village. He points out that lack of facilities for disposing of sanitary sewage in the village of Frankfort has been the subject of numerous letters the state health officials have addressed to that community.

"The proposed plans," Mr. Klassen goes on, "should provide the village with a satisfactory sanitary sewer system and treatment works. We hope the financing for this improvement can be arranged."

Mr. Klassen said nothing in this letter about what action may be taken if the financing is not arranged but indications are that the state is getting tired of talking and plans court action to curb pollution. More than 30 suits have been filed by the state within the past two weeks against individuals at Joliet for dumping sewage into Hickory creek.

Indications at Frankfort, it was reported, point to approval of the bonds at the election Saturday.

Members of the village board are unanimously in favor of the sanitary sewer program and recommend its approval by the voters. They believe that now is the most advantageous time and that further delay will only result in adding substantially to the cost of the project.

Motion Picture, Lecture at Palos Foundation, to Benefit Camp Fund

"Adventures Around the World" is the title of a motion picture lecture which Ned Payne of Palos Park will give for the benefit of the Community Center Foundation Farm Camp fund on May 16 at the Carl Sandburg high school auditorium, 133rd and Route 45.

A professional photographer and devoted sportsman, Mr. Payne will show pictures taken on five expeditions of which he was a member. Starting with Hudson Bay and the wilds of Canada, Alaska, the Jackson Hole country of our great west, Peru, Brazil, and Africa are all included in the film. Close up shots of Kodiak bear fishing for salmon, sport fishing for black marlin in the Humboldt Current off the west coast of South America, native life in the far reaches of Brazil's Mato Grosso and a full scale African safari are exciting highlights.

This is educational entertainment to please every member of the family for rarely is such a variety of locations included in one sequence. Equal ly unusual is the opportunity to hear a professional photographer explain his pictures and the interesting circumstances surrounding the filming. A portion of these adventure films were shown at a Foundation family night program last month. So enthusiastic was the audience response at that time that Mr. Payne consented to a more complete showing as a camp benefit.

The program will start at 8 p.m. Further information and tickets may be obtained from the Foundation office, telephone Gibson 8-0780.

41,500 More Homes in Area to Get Gas Heat

The federal power commission last Friday gave its final approval to a project which it is hoped will permit about 41,500 more Northern Illinois Gas Company customers to heat their homes with natural gas.

The commission authorized Northern Natural Gas company, Omaha, to construct necessary facilities to deliver 50 million cubic feet of natural gas daily to NI-Gas near East Dubuque, Ill. NI-Gas must build a 140-mile pipeline costing $12,500,000 to bring this gas into its present system near Des Plaines.

Marvin Chandler, president of NI-Gas, said the company still must receive Illinois commerce commission permission to build this pipeline. However, he stated he had received assurance from George R. Perrine, chairman of the ICC that the commission would consider NI-Gas' pending application promptly, probably this week. Chandler also reported that the large diameter pipe required has been ordered. Construction can be started early this summer and completed by next winter.

"We are delighted with the FCC's action," Chandler said. "This new supply of gas will clear up our house-heat waiting list for individual new homes (homes not occupied when applications were made) thru Nov. 7, 1957 and for existing homes (homes occupied when applications were made) thru Feb. 27, 1958. If the ICC acts favorably, permits can be mailed in a few days."

"We are hopeful a second major new supplier of gas, Midwestern Gas Transmission company, will soon become a reality. The Midwestern project, which would raise our supply by an additional thirteen per cent, is now before the FCC for final approval. We believe that these new connections will be helpful in meeting the long-term interest of our dynamic northern Illinois territory."

Three juveniles allegedly involved in the case are scheduled for hearing May 14.

Couple Wed at Church Ceremony In Frankfort; Reside at Berwyn

The Good Shepherd Lutheran church of Frankfort was the scene of the recent wedding of the former Miss Eleanor Elaine Mather, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Mather, Route 1, Frankfort, and Larry Allen Baker son of Mrs. Sue Baker, 1305 S. Western ave., Chicago.

The Rev. Adolph Ullrich, church pastor, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

For the wedding rites, there were candelabras and bouquets of glads and carnations at the altar. Ribbon bows decorated the pews.

The organist, Mrs. A. Ullrich, accompanied the soloist, Paul D. Grounke Jr., as he sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "Because."

The bride was escorted down the aisle by her father. She wore a chantilly lace gown with Sabrina neckline and long sleeves. The all lace bodice was trimmed with sequins and pearls. The front of the skirt was of permanently pleated nylon tulle and had lace tiers. The chapel train with its tier of rhinestones and pearls fell from the all lace back. Her fingertip pure silk French illusion veil was edged with lace. She wore pearl earrings, a gift of the groom.

Eloise Mather, twin sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Her powder blue floor length gown was all lace with a picturesque neckline. The three-quarter length sleeves had matching tier of sequins and pearls. A short veil over the face completed the ensemble. Her jewelry was a choker necklace with earrings to match, a gift of the bride.

The two bridesmaids, Lana Baker, sister of the groom, and Louise Michalski, friend of the bride, wore gowns identical to the one worn by the maid of honor, except in the colors of pink and green respectively. All carried white carnation bouquets with centers matching the dresses.

The two flower girls, Donna Rae Mather, cousin of the bride, and Marilyn Zenker, friend of the bride, wore yellow and white dresses similar to the other attendants. Their headpieces and bouquets were also similar.

The groom's best man was his brother, John Baker. Other attendants of the groom were Earl Yunker, brother-in-law, Donald Lange, cousin of the bride, Robert Baker, another brother, and Martin J. Kunz, friend of the groom. They all wore black tuxedos and matching boutonniers and Canterbury ties.

The bride's mother wore a gray sheath dress. Her accessories were of navy blue and she wore a white orchid. The groom's mother wore a beige ace sheath dress with matching accessories and a beige orchid.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception for 350 guests was held at Goodings Grove hall, Lockport. A 5-tier wedding cake was served to guests from the bridal table, decorated with vases of carnations and mums.

The young couple spent a two-week honeymoon motoring to New York, Canada and Massachusetts. For her going away outfit, the bride wore a green suit, white accessories and a white orchid. They now live at 3918 S. Ridgeland av., Berwyn.

A graduate of Carl Sandburg High school, the bride is employed at Sears Roebuck and Co., where her husband, a graduate of Wells High school, Chicago, is a stock man.

At a pre wedding shower given by Eloise Mather, Lois Mather, Geneva Yunker, Jeanette Tostie, Gustie Braasch, Jean Lange, Mary Zenker and Ellen Mather, the bride received many beautiful gifts.

when weather permits, is also pictured. Leader of the troop is Mrs. Walter Zawadzki, assistant leader

IT'S A HAT! The three ladies pictured received prizes in a hat contest held at the Church of Christ Christian judges were men and they awarded the prizes to the women pictured left to right, Mrs. Tim Kinnally, 6618 Parkside drive, for the prettiest hat, which really took the bird; Mrs. Harry Douglas, 6341 W. 167th st., for the funniest, using foil pans; and Mrs. William Bivens, 6513 W. 167th st., for the most original, a creation which makes use of a mop.

Rains Wash Out SW Baseball Card Midgets Were Best Paymasters

Rains washed out the Monday SW Suburban baseball card.

Bremen was slated to oppose the high flying Sandburg Eagles at Midlothian Monday and now the game will probably be played Thursday evening at 4:00.

No games were played on Tuesday because of wet grounds.

Lincoln-Way will not be playing off the 3-3 tie which happened with Reavis last Friday. This would be due to the shortness of time left in the SWS season.

Last evening Lincoln-Way traveled to Bremen for their second meeting of the year and Sandburg journeyed to Park Forest in an effort to avenge the only loss they have sustained this season.

Oak Lawn and Evergreen Park square off. Evergreen Park, pre-season favorite, has yet to win a league contest. Far cry from last year's powerhouse.

The snarl at the top of the loop should be well untangled by 7:00 this evening. Bremen will probably emerge with the top spot.

Look for Evergreen to knock off Oak Lawn and the Rich Rockets to squeak by Sandburg again. Bremen will probably deflate the Eagles on this evening. It should be the Redmen by Friday afternoon and a good chance to finish with as few as one loss in league competition.

Golf Team at Sandburg Wins 2 More Matches; Remains Unbeaten

Victories over Morton of Cicero and Oak Lawn last week gave Carl Sandburg high school's golf team its fifth and sixth consecutive victories of the season.

Sandburg will play host on May 8 to the District Golf tournament of the southwest area. The final date for entering the tourney is not until May 1, therefore the field of participants is yet to be determined.

With the strong showing in dual meets thus far, Sandburg Coach Jim Zimmerman is hoping that his linksmen can continue their winning ways in the district competition. Last year the Sandburg squad missed qualifying for the state meet by only a few strokes.

A new school record has

Holcomb to Speak at CSHS Dinner

Stu Holcomb, athletic director at Northwestern University, is the featured speaker at the Carl Sandburg sports banquet to be held at the Southmoor Country club, across the street from the school, Tuesday, May 5, at 7 p.m.

The Fathers club of Sandburg started this annual affair four years ago.

A sports scholarship trophy will be given to the athlete who had the highest grade point average in the senior class. This is given by the Fathers club.

A Most Valuable Athlete award will be given to the senior who has won at least two letters during his senior year. The winner will be elected by the Letterman's club.

The varsity basketball player with the best foul shooting percentage will be given an award. A minimum of 25 shots is required to qualify for the competition.

Browsing Through The Cold Stove League

Hank Meier is not a good baseball prophet. He is a good coach! Of course, it doesn't look good for me at the moment. However, I think that Hank is not nearly as good as yours truly . . . at least for the present. The finish of the season has a way of turning the tables. I hope my table is incorrect.

Meier, coach of the Sandburg entry in the SW Suburban horseshoe circuit, decided in the pre-season chats that the Eagles were not a contender and they could not hit a curve ball. Well, according to Hank, the season was to be an open and shut case of losses.

What cagey Hank had in mind might have been losses for other teams. His hitless wonders have plastered other teams with more or less resounding defeats. They have scored plenty of earned runs; and, with the help of heavy hitting. Vince DiBenedetto impressed this writer with two long home runs against Lincoln-Way and then he came thru with the clutch hit to beat Joliet last week.

Sandburg has established itself as a definite threat. They made short work of our choice for the crown, Oak Lawn, 9-0. Would you say that was a convincing win? I would. Don't second guess a sports typewriter for it gets the last printed word and can, if necessary, blot out yours. If you don't like this portable—which the boss forces me to use—send me a new one.

Bremen and Sandburg will get together this week for the first showdown. Rubber-arm Phil Yurtis versus the Bremen busters. The Bremen captain and shortstop, Jim Hartman of Tinley Park, is currently hitting about .550. This is an average.

Sandburg has beaten Lincoln-Way, Evergreen Park, Oak Lawn, and Reavis; losing to Rich, 7-6. Bremen has beaten Rich, Evergreen Park, Reavis, and Lincoln-Way losing to Oak Lawn, 8-4.

We can compare scores, but this is like comparing the hare and the turtle. The hare should have won, but that slow-footed turtle waddled across the finish line first. Both teams have appeared real good and then bad—this is Illinois high school baseball.

I'm going to string along with Hank on this prediction and estimate that Bremen will take the Eagles on the Midlothian prairie. Eagles are more accustomed to the bluff and should find the valley against them. Of course, if Sandburg wins, they will probably cop the conference crown. Surprise package for Meier! He would like it.

Actually, Hank has done a fine job of coaching his charges into a solid unit that can beat the best in the Southwest. Things didn't look good in the Eagles nest at the season's beginning. Mr. Meier must receive credit as mother Eagle for producing some fledglings that can bounce the horseshoe.

Oak Lawn took Rich in a fair game last Friday and thus the Spartans, my original choice, Bremen, and Sandburg are the clubs in the torrid race. Bremen feels that they can take the Spartans next time at Midlothian. But, you just look for that Eagle soaring high with Mr. Meier giving directions come May's end. Yes, but I have the privilege of a mind change—later.

Dennis Tattum will be making up his mind on what college to attend within the next two weeks. Watch for the announcement.

Coach Joe DeVine of Sandburg is helping to direct a summer recreation program in the Frankfort area. Joe turned out a real good wrestling squad and has done a good job with physical education at Sandburg the past few years. Actually, he loses his excess weight during the wrestling season as he sweats it out with the squad. This is better than reducing pills.

Midget Races At Joliet to Start Saturday

Midget auto racing returns to Joliet Memorial Stadium on May 2, for the first of some 21 Saturday night sessions, continuing into September.

It will be the eighth consecutive season for the little cars on Joliet's quarter-mile, clay oval.

Heading up an impressive list of track veterans will be defending champion Bob Tattersall of Streator, Willie Wildhaber of Lexington, Ill., and Bernie Wilhelm of Joliet. This trio captured a total of 10 feature race victories in 1958.

Tattersall won four main events, including three at 50 laps; Wildhaber won four and Wilhelm took two.

Tattersall is a two-time track champion, having won his first crown in 1956. The 1957 champion, George Sillery of Chicago also is expected to return, as are these titlists: Ken Rubright, Rock Falls (1952); Bud Abraham, Chicago (1953); and Tony Lenti, Chicago (1954-55).

The May 2 opening date is the earliest in the track's history.

Included on the opening night card will be four heat races, a handicap event, 15 lap semifeature, and 25 lap feature. Time trials start at 7:30 p.m. and the first race at 8:30 p.m. (DST).

Backwood Trails

By ART SCHUMANN

One of the newest adventures in outdoor recreation is the canoe float. Each year more sportsmen are taking up this method in order to fish remote waters. If you plan on visiting the lower peninsula of Michigan this summer arrange to take at least a two day float trip on the Rifle River in Arenac county.

The river covers a distance of roughly 100 miles thru the Rifle River Valley of Ogenaw and Arenac counties. It eventually empties into Saginaw Bay in Lake Huron. Flow of the Rifle ranges from one to 18 mph, paddlers average 5 mph, and is caused by the fall of some 400 feet over its course. The bed of the river varies from sand and gravel bottom to clay ledges and stretches of solid rock outcroppings and provides interesting but not dangerous rapids.

It is indeed a canoeists' paradise with no chance of taking the wrong route. Outstanding trout and bass fishing is offered thruout the river's length. Its depth averages 3-4 feet and gives the fisherman a chance to pull up to shore and fly fish at random. There are many camping sites on the Rifle and good drinking water is available at most sites. State-owned camp sites are located all along the river, and provide reliable, comfortable stopping places for camping.

If you have any doubts on how this past winter has been on wildlife, take a close look at the underside of your evergreen trees. Many thruout the area show the results of rabbits having gnawed them severely for food, especially during the period of heavy snow in January.

Fishing is spotty. A few catches of bass and crappie are being taken in the Kankakee on minnows; the strip mine lakes are slow, but the "Mepps" spinner and "lack eel" should come into their own very shortly there however. Two weeks ago the Des Plaines up near Romeo gave up a six lb. carp. I can't seem to find a place anywhere right now where the bullheads are hitting. I'm beginning to get high-pressure by my family. Seems they would rather eat bullheads than any other fish. If you find out where they're hitting let me know, I can't find them.

"Til next week.

Tinley Man Seeks Action on Septic Tank Complaint

(CNS) The county board public welfare committee on Monday referred to the zoning bureau a letter from Charles Carpenter, 16551 S. 66th ave., Tinley Park, asking action on the "condition of the septic tank" installed at Carpenter's residence.

An investigation has already been made by the county building and zoning bureau and a report of "justified complaint" was made, the letter stated.

Bettenhausen Story

Midgets Were Best Paymasters

1947 was the last great year for the Midget auto racing circuit. Since then, such heralded tracks as Blue Island Raceway and Soldier's Field have become refuges for the stock car race. This trade continues to diminish.

"1947 was the peak year for Midgets in the United States," smiled Tony Bettenhausen. "This was the money year. One could expect a good purse at every race."

"Soldier's Field was a veritable beehive of buzzing motor midgets. Raceway packed them in Milwaukee, still a good midget town, the track was almost bursting."

"Then came television. That ended the great paymaster of the race driver."

Tony won the midget championship at Milwaukee, Raceway Park, and Detroit. He was one of the most often featured drivers at Soldier's Field here in Chicago. He never left the Midwest for a midget race that summer and fall. Things were too good right in his own backyard—or just north of it. Tony purchased his own car for the 1947 Indianapolis 500. It was a straight-eight cylinder Miller engine. Number 70 was stenciled on the side and it was lacquered maroon.

The Bettenhausen jinx had not left the stocky, determined charger for at the 267 mile mark, running in fifth place, the timing gear shattered and forced an end to the race.

However, Tony took to the National championship dirt track circuit for the summer.

He won his second race in succession at Goshen, New York and sped under the checked flag first at Springfield.

He finished sixth in the National point rating.

Back to Indianapolis in 1948 and driving the Belanger Special, the throbbing music of the Miller engine died away. The pinoin gear broke in the rear axle at the 413 mile point. Tony was just 17 seconds behind Mauri Rose the eventual winner, at the time. This was the same car that had let him down the previous year. Tony had sold it to Belanger in the latter part of 1947 and it had been rebuilt over the winter. But it still was not strong enough to withstand the surging urges of the Tinley Parkers.

Midgets were losing their grip on the American racing fan. Tony raced a few times in that season, but it was obvious to him that the great days of the midget were numbered. Crowds and purses were smaller.

The midgets have provided Tony with some of his greatest thrills and some of his worst mishaps.

He drove the National championship tracks, but did not finish as high as he did in 1947.

In September of '48, in fact on his birthday—Sept. 12—he decided to retire.

NEXT WEEK: TONY BETTENHAUSEN RETIRES FROM THE TRACK.

Cities Service Wins Merchants Bowling Title

The New Lenox Friday Night Merchants Bowling League ended the season in a photo finish, at Davey's Lanes, with the Cities Service Oil company team winning by one game over the Dee & Ed's Midwest Grocery team. Team members of the new champions are: Herb Pearce, Red and Troy Leyerle, Eddie, Herb and Geo. Woodcock and Tom Brossman.

Ed Falck of the Dee & Ed's Midwest Grocery team had the highest series for the year, with 678; also the highest single game, a mighty 280.

The highest season average was also a battle down to the wire, with Herb Pearce of the Cities Service team, the winner over Red Bishop of Davey's Lanes, 186 to 185.

A banquet will be held for the entire league Wednesday, April 29, at the Belmont AC, when the trophies will be presented to all the winners and election of officers will be held for the coming season.

Midlothian Threatens Suit Against Tinley

Altho the Village of Tinley Park is in the process of endeavoring to relieve its health facilities by installing a complete sewerage system, it has been warned by the Village of Midlothian, thru its attorney, that unless it takes immediate steps to prevent raw sewerage entering the creek which runs thru Midlothian, that village will take immediate court action.

A referendum is being held in Tinley Park, May 2, on issuance of bonds to finance a sewer system, the culmination of two years' work on the part of the board of trustees.

The attorney for the village of Midlothian threatened in a letter to the Tinley village board, read at the last meeting, that if immediate steps are not taken to remedy the situation, he has been advised to institute proceedings against the village of Tinley Park without giving further notice.

Four Injured in Head-on Collision On U.S. Route 30

Four persons were injured, one seriously, in a headon automobile collision yesterday afternoon on Route 30, about 3/4 mile west of Wolf rd.

In one car were Mrs. Antoinette Olivia Johnson and her two sons, Andrew, 17, and Philip, 14. The younger boy who was riding in the back seat, was seriously injured. The driver of the other car, James Bailey, 26, of Rockford, and the others were in fairly good condition at Silver Cross hospital, Joliet, where they were taken in the Baskerville ambulance.

The Johnson family, with the mother at the wheel, was enroute to Seattle, Wash. She is a Brazilian missionary for the Assembly of God church and had planned to enroll the boys in an American school. The car she was driving had just been purchased in Michigan.

This will be an important meeting as everyone will have the opportunity to help plan the programs for the coming year. A resume of the accomplishments for the past year will be given and the officers for the coming year will be installed. The meeting will be held Friday, May 1.

AT SCOUT FAIR in Joliet last week end were exhibits shown by troops and packs from Mokena and New Lenox. In the top picture are three cub scouts from New Lenox, (l to r) Irvin Darnall, Edward Beadles and Thomas Micka, who apparently qualify as experts on makes of automobiles, to judge from the many model cars on display here as illustrative of their handicraft skills. In the center photo are three members of Troop 49, New Lenox, illustrating a primitive method of generating fire. Left to right they are Parker Kolbe, Roy Gobush and Joseph Wajchert Jr. In the picture at the side the Mokena Boy Scout troop is shown putting the finishing touches on its pioneer tower, constructed of poles and handmade rope. The Scout Fair was held in the Joliet armory. (Marvin Smith photos)

Lincoln Memorial Garden Near Springfield Draws Many Visitors

Created as the first living memorial to the Great Emancipator, the Abraham Lincoln Memorial Garden perpetuates within its 60 rolling acres the virgin prairie of the pioneers, and as usual, is expected to attract thousands of visitors during the current growing season.

Its wide grasslands and wooded hills recapture in miniature the free expanse and solitary beauty of the wilderness.

Stretching back from a busy highway to the quiet waters of Lake Springfield, the garden gives visitors a glimpse of the frontier country that produced Abraham Lincoln, world citizen and President of the United States.

Planned and executed by the Garden Club of Illinois, it follows a pattern of growth and renewal that develops each year to a more beautiful maturity.

Springfield Civic Garden club conceived the idea for this unique memorial and presented it to the Garden Club of Illinois in 1932. The state club agreed to sponsor the garden as their major project. Mrs. T. J. Knudson was named chairman.

Jens Jensen, internationally famous landscape architect, was hired to plan the garden.

The first planting was made in the fall of 1936 when acorns from 28 states were planted by girl and boy scouts.

Subsequent plantings were made representing more than 100 community garden clubs of Illinois. Many Lincoln organizations and several state garden federations contributed to the garden.

In 1941, after completion of the planting, the Garden Club of Illinois turned the memorial back to the city. They retain an active interest and a city ordinance specifies no change may be made in the garden without the club's consent.

In the spring hundreds of wild plum, shad, crab-apple, silver bell, red bud and dogwood bloom along its trails. In the fall maple, oak, sassafras, sumac and wahoo add to the glory of its coloring.

Trees cover the higher levels and the lower levels along the lake have thousands of March marigolds, phlox, shooting star and other blossoms. These are the same blossoms that the pioneers gazed upon when they entered Illinois.

There are permanent benches from 15 states along the trails. There are eight council rings built of native stone with a firepit in the center.

As Jens Jensen said, "The plantings here will tell the story of this garden when all statutory monuments have crumbled into dust..."

Members of the Garden club of Illinois will come to Springfield from all over the state May 2 and 3. As part of the Lincoln sesqui-centennial celebration, the Garden club will hold open house with the board of directors and Lincoln Garden Foundation acting as hostesses.

There will be conducted tours at 10 a.m. both Saturday and Sunday. Mrs. Charles R. Walgreen will show slides of the Garden Saturday evening.

The public is cordially invited to visit the Garden at anytime.

Women's Civil Defense Corps Celebrates First Anniversary

The Palos Park Women's Civil Defense corps celebrated their first anniversary April 23. A full year of accomplishment has been recorded by this very active unit comprised of 29 mothers who live in the Palos area.

A nine-week home preparatory study was the first major undertaking of this group. Civil defense must be practiced first in the home and then in the community for aid and service in time of disaster. Once the needs were established for the family's survival, the women turned their attention to public service courses. A basic first-aid course was sponsored with an unusually high enrollment of 42. Cook county civil defense director Joseph Downey commended the group for their work in trying to promote public education of civil defense.

The advanced first aid course will be concluded shortly and presentation of the first aid badges for those having successfully completed the course will be awarded by the Director of Public Instruction of the South Suburban chapter of the American Red Cross.

The corps, dressed in their neat gray uniforms with red, white, and blue overseas cap, are becoming well known thru their recent appearances at the American Legion Eighth District Auxiliary meeting held recently in Chicago Heights, their participation in the National Alert procedures at the schools in the Palos area on April 17 and for their work in the public information and education exercises held in Palos Heights April 18. They also participated in exercises held in Orland Park and Mokena. The officers of this unit include Mrs. Willis Knippel, chairman; Mrs. Rolland Herrman, vice chairman; Mrs. Geo. Herbach, recording secretary; Mrs. Wm. C. Lilly, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Asa Risner, treasurer; and Mrs. Donald Nagel, historian.

The group meets every second and fourth Monday of each month in Bethany hall, Ev. Lutheran Church of the Good Shepherd, Palos Park. Upon completion of the present advanced first aid course, summer plans include visits to Argonne Laboratory, DuPage County Communications Center for Civil Defense, Niki installations in the area and in addition will feature speakers on radiation, newest methods of first aid, rescue, mass food preparation and many more. The fall program includes courses on radiology and basic mass-feeding.

The anniversary celebration was held at the Anyplace restaurant in Orland Park. Luncheon followed the dinner and preparations for the evening were made by Mrs. Wm. C. Lilly and Mrs. Joan Knippel. Attending the celebration in addition to Mrs. Lilly and Mrs. Knippel were Meses. Kenneth Anderson, Rollo Anderson, Raymond Arnold, Donald A. Cameron, Richard Cervinka, Harry Fanning, Wm. Fuhrberg, Sr., Geo. Herbach, Rolland Herrman, Stanley Kwiatkowski, Lester Mahaffey, Wm. Monfriez, Donald Nagel, Julius Richardson, Asa J. Risner, Warren Schober, George Schneider, John Schneider, John Schroder, Lee Scott, Joseph Szabo, and Francis Yunker.

Civil Defense director for the Palos area is Wm. C. Lilly. Any information on women's civil defense may be had by calling Gibson 8-3722 or Gibson 8-3718.

SCOUT NEWS

Boy Scout Troop 40
Boy Scout Troop 40 of Mokena participated in the council-wide Scout Fair last Saturday.

Their theme was pioneering. There were 54 units represented at the fair, with demonstrations on hobbies to the more advanced scout skills. Troop 40 had a double booth and their theme was pioneering. A large 21 foot tower and a six foot table were made at Mokena and hauled to Joliet intact and set up Friday night. The remainder of the double booth was put in order Saturday morning.

During the fair, a 4 1/2 ft. store mannequin dressed in a summer scout uniform, complete with a registration card bearing the name of Rigger Morris was brought in on a stretcher. With the use of a double bowline rescue hitch, it was hauled to the top of the tower, where he stood surveying the scene for the rest of the show.

During the show, troop 40 made a bench from a split log and one from lashing branches together, and also a clothes tree. A hammock was made from rope and pieces of branches and fastened inside the tower about two feet above the floor. The scoutmaster tested it out, and almost made up his mind to spend the rest of the show there.

Troop 40 was somewhat handicapped by the fact that 16 of their scouts were away with the school band in another form of competition.

A good time was had by all, and troop 40 came home with an A rating, the highest possible.

Thanks to the generous cooperation of the parents, the troop committee, Swanberg Farm and Auto Service, and New Lenox Lumber company, the scouts and materials were hauled to and from Joliet without a mishap.

Mokena Cub Pack 40

The Mokena Cub Pack 40 met April 23 at 7:30 p.m. in the gym of the Carpenter st. school. James Pels, Cubmaster conducted the meeting. Den 5 with Mrs. Walter Rogers as Den Mother and Cub Scouts Danny Gohs, Kenneth Rogers, Johnny Sluis, Frank Sizer, Donald Carroll, Ricky Olson and Jack Floyd presented the colors in the Flag Ceremony.

An entertaining puppet show "Old MacDonald Had a Farm" was presented by Den 2 with Robert Bills, Eric Book, Gordon Bruce, Gary Horras, Robert Sorensen, Darryl Sherwood and Kenny Warning. Mrs. George Bills is the Den Mother.

George Gorman presented the following awards: Jack Floyd, Wolf badge; Kenneth Rogers, golden and silver arrow for Wolf badge; Danny Gohs, silver arrow and wolf badge; Leonard Lindstrom, silver arrow for Lion badge; George Gorman, gold and silver arrow for Lion badge; Kenneth Corniels and Eldon Schwarz, silver arrow for bear badge; Dale Rodeghero, Lion badge. Den 2 won the attendance award. Group singing and games for the boys concluded the program.

Parents viewed the handicraft exhibits by each den while the boys played games. Refreshments were served by Den 8 mothers: Mrs. Charles Burkhardt, Mrs. Harold Behen and Mrs. Gordon Spiess, and Den 1 mothers, Mrs. Clarence

Vote for the Sewer Bonds Saturday

The people of Frankfort and Tinley Park are to vote Saturday, May 2 in elections that are not only of great importance to them but to the remainder of the area as well.

The question before the people of these two communities is the authorization of bond issues to finance sanitary sewer systems.

Proper disposal of sanitary waste is vital to the public health. The septic tank system was never intended for a congested area.

That is the reason why state health authorities are so concerned. The population of the area is not just expanding in a gradual, normal manner. It is exploding. And when areas fill up with people, continued use of septic systems becomes a menace to public health.

Because of pressure from health authorities, counties and municipalities are now enacting ordinances which require adequate water and sewer systems, including sewage treatment plants, properly installed, in subdivisions in unincorporated sections.

Treatment plants are required with sewers because without them the only way to dispose of sewage is to let it flow into creeks or ditches. The result is polluted water courses and the release of gases that give off objectionable odors and are also injurious to property and health.

About 10 days ago the state filed suits in the Will county circuit court at Joliet against some 30 individuals who are dumping sewage into Hickory creek. This is taken as an indication that the state is getting ready for a general crackdown on persistent violators of health regulations, whether they be individuals, corporations, or governing bodies.

The people of Tinley Park and Frankfort are fortunate in having an opportunity to solve this problem.

We have talked with engineers who have had a chance to view the plans for both communities. They found the plans and the designs to be sound and practical. They found the cost to be reasonable. They approved the method proposed to finance the program.

General obligation bonds, or revenue bonds, or a combination of both G.O. and revenue bonds provide the only practical method of financing such programs, is the opinion given us by engineers, contractors, bond house representatives and officials of other municipalities who have had experience along these lines. They are agreed that special assessment bonds are impractical for the following reasons:

1. There is no market for such bonds.
2. Because there is no market, interest rates are excessive.
3. In order to find a buyer the seller is compelled to offer a liberal discount. There have been cases where the discount has been as high as 40 per cent.
4. Because the contractors usually wind up with most of the bonds they have to make the cost of the job higher to compensate for the discount at which they sell them.

It is our considered opinion that Tinley Park and Frankfort are both in need of sanitary sewer systems. We hope that when the residents of these communities go to the polls Saturday they will vote for the bond issues.

For the past several years labor and material costs in construction projects have steadily increased. There are no indications that this trend will be reversed. To delay these sewer programs further is more likely to increase rather than decrease their costs.

Only in the past few weeks it was brought out by an official of the Rock Island railroad that Mokena offered the best location for light industry of any town in the area because it is just completing a sanitary sewer system.

Attraction of industry to the area is most important. It is the only way that householders can expect relief from the tax burden they now bear.

From a public health standpoint, and from a standpoint of dollars and cents for the taxpayer and the merchant and others who depend upon the growth of a community for their livelihood, a sewer system is a necessity.

The money such a system costs will be money well spent.

DENTAL HEALTH

The great hope for any realistic solution to the wide spread problem of dental disease, experts agree, is starting preventive dentistry in the very young.

If a child's teeth are properly cared for up to age 15, a strong foundation has been laid for minimizing dental troubles in later years.

No dental care is needed, of course, until the child's first teeth begin to erupt, somewhere around the age of six months.

At this time, the four central incisors — two upper and two lower — begin to peek out. By age 7 to 11 months, four more teeth, upper and lower, start to come in. These are the lateral incisors at either side of the central teeth.

Then Mother Nature wisely skips a few spaces in order properly to shape the jaw. In 12 to 16 months, the back teeth or molars, come in. Then the cuspids show to fill in the space between. At about age 24 months, the second molars come in.

While all this has been going on, the permanent teeth are slowly developing in the jaw bone so they can come forth at the proper time.

The first of the permanent teeth are sometimes called the "six-year molars" because they emerge at about age six. Because they do not replace the first teeth but rather come in just behind them, these molars tend to confuse parents who think they are also first teeth.

This error can lead to tragic consequences. Since the 6-year molar is a permanent tooth, it will not be replaced if lost.

Dentists strongly emphasize the importance of watching for the "six-year" molars. They are important in the structure of the mouth. The manner in which they interlock with their opposite teeth will determine the eventual shape of the jaw, facial contour and regularity of alignment of other teeth.

Because of their importance the first permanent molars are often referred to as the "key-stone of the dental arch."

Next week: A Child's First Visit to the Dentist.

of thousand dollars out of his own pocket during this session of congress and he is probably conservative in his estimate.

Last week he had received between 1,500 and 2,000 forms urging him to do something to halt inflation. All of those will be answered, he said.

He added that he didn't think that much could be done to curb government spending by making, say a 10 or 15% slash in appropriations across the board. He says he thinks he has a solution but doubts if anyone will buy it — and that is to cut whole programs in their entirety.

The trouble is, he points out, is that people who want spending reduced or to cease in one field, are clamoring for more money to finance their pet programs. It's always "Somebody else, not me."

The army needs more money for its projects and suggests the best way to get it would be to cut appropriations for the navy, air force and marines. Derwinski explained, while the other branches of the armed services make the same suggestion with themselves in the No. 1 spot or "get." Grain farmers see no need for subsidies for cotton and dairy farmers, cotton farmers see no need and so on ad infinitum.

Not only that, Derwinski added, but the bureau heads are ever alert to see that no cuts are made in their appropriations. For example, the bureau that administered Hawaii, Wake, Guam and other Pacific possessions of the U.S., used 80% of the total sum appropriated on the Hawaiian Islands. Now that Hawaii has become a state one might think it only reasonable that the appropriation be cut 80%. That's where you are wrong. The bureau in charge still insists that the original appropriation be retained. Right now, Derwinski said, the figure has been reduced 50%, but whether it will stand is another matter.

If a percentage cut across the board on all appropriations were voted by congress, Derwinski said, the bureau, lobbyists and pressure groups would probably have it all restored in six months time.

Derwinski has a bill in the hopper to repeal the excise tax on telephone bills but isn't too hopeful of getting any results this year. Once the government has a source of revenue it hates to give it up.

He also has a bill to balance the budget that would require the executive branch to convince congress of the need of an appropriation. As it stands now, Derwinski said, congress is a rubber stamp for the executive branch.

The fourth district congressman apparently is trying to do a job. He is in a tough league and he knows it. He does not pretend to be an oracle with pat answers to all the questions.

He readily admitted that he was not the state department and had no voice in making foreign policy, which is quite Given some more seasoning and Edward J. Derwinski, of West Pullman, rookie congressman from the fourth district, should do very well for his district. He is 33 years old, personable and has the physical stamina for the job.

While this is his first appearance in the political majors he did have the benefit of a term as state representative in the Illinois general assembly, of course, but equivalent to triple A competition.

On the Washington scene any new congressman is looked upon as a bushier, regardless of his ability, until he has served several terms or is so adept in the political field that his ability competes recognition.

This is not intended to infer that Mr. Derwinski has so impressed official Washington with his talents that fellow congressmen and news people seek his opinion but he is showing them that he is under no illusions that he is about to strike the match that will set the world aflame and that he can be depended upon to use common sense.

One can't campaign for congress in whispers — not in the fourth district anyway — and the use of banners, signs, loudspeakers and painted cars are quite permissible. Derwinski used a car with a color scheme so loud it could be heard as well as seen.

He drove the car to Washington and his entry caused a few lifted eyebrows among the striped pants set and according to verbal reports reaching the district some columnist is alleged to have broken precedent by mentioning the new fourth district congressman by name and finding fault with the color scheme of his car and the fact that the name Derwinski was painted thereon in letters that could not be ignored.

This in itself was quite unusual because congressmen say about 10 cents the dozen in Washington among the news people.

Besides the speaker of the house, the chairman of the ways and means committee and the chairman of a committee that chances to be handling some subject that is currently news, few congressmen break into print.

Papers that maintain their own bureaus at Washington do devote space to chronicling the deeds of their own congressmen but the national news services ignore them unless they are involved in something of national interest. When the national news services need a name for a story they usually start canvassing those with cabinet rank and settle for a better known senator if they have to.

Washingtonians are accustomed to many sights and probably paid no more heed to Congressman Derwinski's car than they would have to a man wearing a coonskin cap, a fringed buckskin shirt and bermuda shorts, and carrying a muzzle loading squirrel rifle cradled in one of his arms.

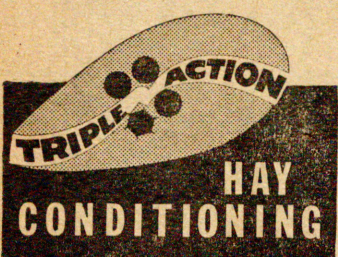

Congressman Derwinski, however, being a sensible man put away his car and is campaigning like an old timer by answering all the many letters from constituents.

At a meeting with newsmen from his district last Friday at Cavallini's restaurant in Midlothian, Derwinski said he figures that answering letters from the people of his district will cost him a couple Montgomery Ward has just announced a considerable expansion program to be completed within five years. John H. Barr, chairman of the board, stated that the expansion program of stores is designed to increase sales at the rate of $150 million per year.

The program for 1959 is to open 10 retail department stores, 45 catalog stores, two distribution centers, and four hard line (wearing apparel and soft goods excluded) stores. In 1960 it is planned to open 20 retail department stores, 40 catalog stores, two added distribution centers, and a substantial number of hard line stores.

Consideration is also being given to entering the insurance field as Sears Roebuck has done.

No outside funds will be needed for this expansion program. For many years under the management of Sewell Avery, Ward avoided any expansion and its financial policy was to husband its cash and charge off its properties at an accelerated rate. The result of this policy over the years, is that physical properties were being carried at less than $90 million and net current assets (working capital) about $45 per share.

Often times an unusually high working capital position does not, of itself, indicate especially profitable company activity. It can mean that the firm is contracting its activities rather than expanding and profits small relative to the total company investment.

Sears Roebuck had a working capital position of around $11 per common share but this amount is actively employed in the business and profits per dollar of invested capital, relatively high.

The new Ward management has been aggressive in its expansion program, but apparently has kept it within bounds of control and expanded profitably. Very large liquid funds sometimes have led to rapid and poorly planned expansion.

There are about 1,400 institutional investors which regularly report their holdings. The number which include Wards in their holdings has been increasing.

The National Association of Investment Companies, an association of mutual funds and other investment firms, has made its annual survey of the holding of 20 important mutual funds. These firms are managed by professional investment advisers. The report states that oil shares rank first in common stock holdings of these funds.

At the close of 1958, the following is a list of the top investment mediums and percentage of funds in each: Oils 15.4; Financial banks and insurance etc., 10.7; public utilities, 10.2; steel, 7.1; chemicals, 5.1; railroads 4.6; building material and equipment, 4.4; metals and mining, 4.2; drugs, 3.7; and natural gas, 3.3.

The oils have been the top favorites since 1954. In 1953 they were second. Market activity would indicate that investors prefer those firms operating in the western hem-

Basic Patterns Topic of Monthly Home Bureau Meeting in Orland

By MRS. LILLIAN KNOX
Fieldbrook 9-0211

Basic patterns was the topic of the lesson given by Mrs. George Sayers at the regular monthly meeting of the Orland Unit of the Cook County Home Bureau, held in the home of Miss Mary Ginder, Friday evening, April 17.

Particular interest to members were Mrs. Sayers' instructions on how to measure in order to be sure of what pattern to buy for perfect fit.

Three new members were welcomed. They were Mrs. Marvin Cooper, Mrs. Nina Kay and Mrs. Foster Myrick.

Plans were made for a Home Bureau Play Day which will be held May 19, beginning at 10 a.m. at the Home-wood VFW hall where booths depicting lessons for the year will be on display. A potluck lunch will be served.

The card and bunco party to be given by the Eager Beavers 4H club at the Center school, Friday, May 8 at 8 p.m. was discussed.

Also present were Mesdames Ray Myrick, Zella McMurray, Edward McCarthey, Albert Sauerbier, Oscar Mack, John Lohmann, Henry Andersen, Stanley Kovelkis, Margaret Loebe, Miss Clara Myrick and Miss Lillie Mattsen.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Loebe and Mrs. McMurray. The next meeting will be held Friday evening, May 15 in the home of Mrs. Ray Myrick.

At the grade school election Saturday, April 11, Joseph Bauer was elected to serve on the board of District 137.

Charles E. Stewart, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Stewart, 158th and 113th ct., is taking basic army training at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo. He attended high school here and also graduated from Washburne Trade School, Chicago. He was employed as a sheet metal worker before entering the army Feb. 25, 1959.

Donald Gee, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Gee, was recently elected vice president of Chi Iota Phi, Christian interest fraternity at Drake University where he is a senior, majoring in general business at the school's college of business administration.

Mrs. Raymond Barry, heart fund chairman for the Orland area, is in receipt of a congratulatory letter stating the Orland Park committee for 1959 heart fund drive, had shattered all records. The final total of receipts was $526.04.

A mother daughter banquet will be held Thursday, May 7 at 6:45 p.m. in the social room of the Orland Park Methodist isphere. Some analysts report their opinion that the excess of petroleum product inventory, has been brought under control. Lack of inventory balance is not new in the oil picture. The constantly expanding market for petroleum products, has aided in bringing inventories under control.

Many investors follow the changes in mutual fund holdings, for investment ideas. It is also sort of a backstop on their own choices.

One obvious way: Take all allowable deductions. But were you able to recall all your deductible expenses at tax time this year? Would you be able to prove all your claims? The best way we know to have complete records and receipts is to deposit all earnings and income in a checking account; pay all bills by check. What neater, simpler records than checkbook stubs? Planning Group Urges City Zone "Heinke Farm" as Business Area

By EVELYN VAN HORN
Sycamore 8-8921

The planning and zoning commission held its last meeting last week in the Country Club Hills city hall. Members of the board were appointed by Mayor Landenberger when he took office last year and their terms will end with his tenure of office next month.

One of the last official acts of the commission was to adopt a resolution offered by George Whittington, urging the city council to zone commercially the area known as the "Heinke Farm."

In offering the resolution Mr. Whittington said that he felt that in failing to create this commercial zone the council had ignored the basics of good planning, the needs of the city and the opinions of the citizens.

He added that a party is prepared to put in shopping facilities if given an opportunity but that the council had apparently granted a monopoly on such improvements to one builder and he did not think this was for the best interests of the community.

Whittington stated that residents of Units I and II will be cut off from the shopping facilities on 175th street by the freeway. The city has also ignored the possibilities of revenue by zoning the "Heinke Farm" so that a shopping center can be established there, Whittington said. He pointed out that the council could control the development of that area.

He also said that while the council had emphasized that the owner of "Heinke Farm" didn't have any plans at the present this point was not touched upon in reference to other proposed shopping centers.

Mr. Whittington concluded by stating that in his opinion the planning and zoning commission would be remiss in its duties if it did not urge the council to act on a recommendation that the "Heinke Farm" be rezoned to permit business there. The resolution was passed unanimously.

Donald Schwenk, chairman of the planning and zoning group, gave a brief resume of its acts since its first meeting Oct. 6, 1958.

He pointed out that the commission was made up of a housewife, secretary, civil engineer, sales manager, editor of a trade magazine, manufacturing engineer, architectural consultant and administrative manager.

"These people sat down to conduct business," Mr. Schwenk said, "and while we have had many discussions there have been no arguments; many differences of opinion but no compromise with right; many meetings with few absences and many projects accomplished."

Tho badgered and pressured on occasions, Mr. Schwenk said, the members of the commission have stuck to their guns and endeavored to do what was best for the community as a whole.

One accomplishment of which the commission can be proud, he said, was that in two months time the group had been able to come up with a zoning ordinance comparable to that of a neighboring community that had consumed 18 months in the under taking at a cost of several thousand dollars, including the fee for a professional consultant.

Fire Protections District

Members of the Fire Protection district of Country Club Hills urge everyone to exercise extreme care in burning of rubbish and refuse on windy days. This should be done away from any buildings and in a container that will keep the flames and burning particles confined.

When an emergency call is placed with the fire department, the siren is sounded, the volunteers stop their work at once, and with all possible caution proceed to the fire station or scene of emergency. Most of the volunteer members have blue, blinking lights on their cars and turn them on only when answering a call. The firemen ask all to help whoever may be in distress, as soon as possible, by allowing the firemen the right of way and to proceed without obstruction.

The newly formed local Chamber of Commerce held its first organizational meeting April 23 in the Thomas Lane schools. Officers elected were: Cliff Archart, president; A. I. Hoge and Marvin Beste, vice presidents; Russ Alsip, secretary; Fred Wedderspoon, treasurer and Emil Van Tichelt, directors. At the next meeting May 6, plans will be made for a charter. There are now 15 members with more joining at each meeting.

United Christian Church

The Youth Fellowship will meet at the parsonage, Saturday May 2 before they go to Park Forest to attend youth services at the Congregation Beth Sholem in Park Forest. Following the service, Rabbi Klein will speak to the group on the significance of the observances and traditions.

The Finance committee, John Cox, chairman, met on Tuesday evening. They are working on the budget for the coming year and hope the congregation will be able to vote on it May 24.

Rev. Mr. Pew will attend the 109th annual convention of Illinois Christian churches in Jacksonville, May 3-6.

Proposition Defeated

At the recent municipal election, the proposition to change the term of office of city officials from four to two years was defeated by a vote of 331 to 260.

Fashion Show

At the next meeting May 6, of the Women's club, plans will continue to be made for the annual fun night to be held May 24 from 1 to 7 p.m. in the Central school. There are approximately 15,000 jobs waiting for agricultural college graduates each year. Unfortunately agricultural colleges are only graduating about half this number annually. Here are some of the fields of endeavor open to Ag college graduates, in addition to farming: Agricultural Science and Research, Agri Business, services with both Public and private agricultural agencies, agricultural education, and agricultural journalism. Even though farming opportunities are on the decline because of larger farms, the number of jobs in the agricultural field is increasing.

Now is Time To Start Your Garden—Indoors

By JAMES FIZZELL
Assistant Farm Advisor

May 25 is generally considered the frost free date in this locality. This means that frost has never occurred after this date, and it is safe to set out tender plants. Since it is just one month until May 25, now is the time to start seedlings indoors for good sized plants.

Prepare flats or containers in the following manner: (wooden cigar boxes make good flats). Be sure there are sufficient drainage holes in the bottom of the container. Cover the bottom with a layer of sphagnum or peat moss to keep the soil from plugging up the drain holes. Next fill the flat to within one inch of the top with clean, friable soil. On top of the soil, spread 1/2 inch of sand, shredded peat, or vermiculite. Water thoroughly to firm the soil. The seed is sown to 1/2 inch deep furrows which are made by pressing the edges of a lath or thin board into the planting medium.

Large seeds may be covered with sand or vermiculite. Small seeds such as petunias need not be covered. Be sure to label each row carefully. Sown flats should be watered immediately by placing them in a pan of water. Watering over the top may wash the seed away. Keep the flats in a warm place until the seed germinates. Do not allow the soil to dry out or the seeds will be killed. Covering the flat with plastic, burlap or newspaper may be helpful. As soon as the seeds germinate, move the flats to a cool bright place such as a cold frame or an unheated porch.

When the seedlings begin to crowd each other, transplant them or they will become weak and spindly.

When transplanting mixtures, be sure to transplant small as well as large seedlings. Different types of flowers grow at different rates.

Anniversary of Zion church. Rev. and Mrs. Bizer served at Zion church for 12 years preceding their coming to Frankfort.

The annual mother and daughter banquet will be held at the Methodist church Tuesday May 12, beginning at 6:30 p.m. Mrs. Ervin Schellhase is program chairman. Various musical selections will be given. Mrs. Glenn Ferrell will give a book review on "The Preacher's Kids." Reservations must be in by Thursday, May 7. Please contact Mrs. Walter Grotewald, phone 4444, for tickets.

The Figworts? Oh, You Remember Them! The Family in the Woods?

By ROBERT MANN
Conservation Editor

The Figwort family, also known as the Foxglove family, includes many plants with such strikingly different flowers or such different habits of growth that they scarcely seem to be relatives. The weirdly shaped blossoms of several kinds suggest, if you are fanciful, the faces of animals: some with fearsome open jaws, others with gaping flabby lips or bulging throats. Hence, among them, there are plants with such colorful names as Snapdragon, Turtle-head, Monkey Flower, Little Elephants, Owl's Clover and Pelican Flower.

The Figwort, from which the family gets not only a common name but also its scientific name, is a woodland plant with inconspicuous flowers that was once supposed to possess a cure for scrofula. Most members of this family have bitter juice; and several do have medicinal, narcotic or poisonous properties.

The large oval leaves of the cultivated Foxglove yield digitalis, most valuable of heart medicines because it is better than any other for stimulating the action of heart muscles in cases of partial heart failure. It has attractive racemes of many tubular flowers, from white to red or purple in color.

Approximately 3000 species of this family are known. About 40 are native to the Chicago region and 10, introduced from foreign countries, have gone wild and become naturalized. The largest of these is mullein, (called mullein) so common and conspicuous in pastures, waste places and along roadsides. In its first summer, a seedling produces a rosette of large woolly grayish green leaves that endure and hold their color throughout the following winter. In the second season it shoots up a stout leafy stalk, often as tall as a man. The topmost foot or two is packed with hundreds of buds which, after midsummer and progressively upward from the bottom, open into small yellow flowers. Each is followed by a capsule with an abundance of tiny seeds often eaten by goldfinches.

Mullein has about 40 folk names such as Aaron's Rod, Peter's Staff, Royal Candle, and Flannel Leaf or Velvet Plant. The felt on its leaves feels soft to the fingers but it is made up of fine prickly hairs which, if rubbed on your cheek, may make it burn for hours. Farm boys used to dry and smoke them. Our Bulletin No. 466 relates other interesting facts about mullein.

Our great grandmothers used to plant a European figwort called Butter-and-Eggs, or Toadflax, in their gardens because it bears a tall spike of rich yellow and orange flowers. It soon escaped, became a weed, and now grows wild in waste places and sandy soils from coast to coast. Snapdragon, Kenilworth Ivy, Speedwell and Foxglove are figworts cultivated in gardens or indoors.

False Foxglove is a late plant with lacy fernlike leaves and five petalled lemon-yellow flowers that are tubular and shaped like a bell. It seems to be partial to oaks and may be a parasite that gets part of its food from the roots of those trees.

Indian Paint Brush or Painted Cup is another figwort and an oddity of our original prairies. What appears to be the bloom is really the vividly colored tips of leaves directly under the blossom—usually scarlet or vermilion, but sometimes orange or yellow. It, too, is thought to be partially parasitic on the roots of other plants. A western species is the state flower of Wyoming.

In our Cook county parade of spring wildflowers is the delicate Blue-eyed Mary, a figwort sometimes abundant in moist woodlands. Each blossom has a white upper lip and a blue lower lip.

We have not been able to find the reason for the name, Figwort.

Cause me to hear Thy loving kindness in the morning; for in Thee do I trust: cause me to know the way wherein I should walk, for I lift up my soul unto Thee. — (Psalm 143:8).

Those who begin each day by thanking God for His love and His blessings and for a new opportunity to serve Him by loving and helping others, will find joy and strength abundant; obedient to His will, they are guided into righteousness.

Silver Cross Begins Use of New Addition

Silver Cross Hospital, Joliet, has begun using a part of a addition, assigning patients to new bedrooms in an extension to the second floor of the north wing, according to Paul W. Kempe, administrator. This area will provide 36 extra beds in two-bedrooms.

Oxygen is piped into each room and a modern communications system not only links every room with the nursing station, but makes it possible for the nurse in charge to carry on conversations with any patient, no matter how ill he may be.

This is accomplished by use of an extremely sensitive microphone on the wall near the patient's head. He has a cord with a switch button which he presses to light up his number on the box of a central control unit at the station. This is like a telephone switchboard and when the nurse sees a number lighted up she lifts the telephone receiver connected with the control unit and asks the patient what is wanted. He may only be able to whisper his request but the sensitive receiver will pick it up.

Bathrooms also have emergency switch buttons which register on the board of the control unit.

within a month it is anticipated that the new maternity division built atop the west wing will be ready for occupancy. Shortly afterwards new quarters for the pharmacy and central sterile supply department being built in the basement of that wing will be ready for relocation of those departments.

The public contributed over $600,000 to the new building and remodeling program at Silver Cross, in a fund raising campaign launched in October 1957 by W. Franklin Barrett, president of the board of trustees who acted as campaign chairman.

When completed over 90 extra adult beds will be in operation. With the new diagnostic and treatment wing completed last year, new construction costs including re-modeling and equipment will total about two million dollars. The islands of Hawaii stretch across 1,540 miles of ocean.
